USER COMMENTS

"The StagePlayer guitar stool is the perfect solution for those gigs where space is tight; the built in guitar stand is icing on the cake!"

J. Hayes, Product Support Manager, Paul Reed Smith Guitars Ltd.

"It's just such a cool item for anyone who works in limited space. When it's time to take a break, it's there, and it doesn't take up a foot print. Whether it's a stage or a studio, compact (and safe) is always good."

Michael Brown, Artist Relations, Warwick Basses

"How could a guitar player not need one of these StagePlayers? What a great, completely simple, perfect idea. The 'pet rock' of guitar accessories."

Dave Jenkins, Guitarist and Vocalist for Pablo Cruise

"The StagePlayer, a simple folding stool with a guitar stand built into it. I should have thought of that one! Well done!"

Steve Postell, singer/songwriter/guitarist/composer/producer

"The StagePlayer is a unique and functional guitar stand and stool. Besides the obvious versatility, it is very comfortable and well designed. Thumbs up on a truly innovative combination!"

Ryan Angle, COO- LR Baggs Corp.

GREAT FOR STAGE & PERFORMANCE, HOME USE OR STORE DISPLAY!

Introduced into Australia by Grevillea Distribution at the recent AMAC2009 show, the StagePlayer2 developed by Nick Vail Designs, offers musicians great features that will certainly prove practical and extremely useful in many situations.

To the working musician, the StagePlayer will serve as a seat during those marathon gigs. Between sets, simply put the guitar in the handy, padded cradle for safe keeping. The StagePlayer is ideal for home use too; it's a place to sit and play or just display.

Speaking of display, the StagePlayer meets the need for musicians trying out guitars in the music store. But more than that, the customer will certainly consider the practicality of the StagePlayer and would perhaps consider taking this product home too.
